If there is a war worker in your home you should read this

Split shifts, box lunches and dinners eaten at breakfast time, make care in menu planning doubly important. To keep your war worker healthy and strong, alert and efficient on the job, with steady nerves that help him maintain the wartime pace yet relax away from the job, you need to know and practice the rules of menu planning and nutrition.

First, you need to make sure that he has three nutritious meals a day, regardless of irregular hours and long shifts. He needs planned meals with lots of emphasis on quality. More than ever do you need to know what you're going to have ahead of time . . . need to buy wisely, with an eye on future menus. It's up to you to keep him radiating positive good health and vitality. Use your head and save your feet and your war-worker's job.

In planning, see that your worker gets a balance of "protective foods"—liberal amounts of milk and cheese, fruit and vegetables, meats, fish, and poultry, eggs and whole grain and enriched breads and cereals. Then make sure that you give him enough energy-building foods, desserts and other treats which will give him pleasure in eating as well as renewed vitality.

Here are three balanced, easy-to-prepare, and easy-to-eat meals to serve the worker who may be eating dinner at breakfast time, lunch at midnight or brunch in mid-morning.

DINNER AT BREAKFAST TIME
Hot or Chilled Tomato Juice
(According to taste and weather)
Creamed Ham and Hard-cooked Eggs on Enriched White Toast
Baked Potato Buttered String Beans
Additional Buttered Toast
With Jam or Jelly
Chilled Melon or Fruit Cup
Oatmeal Cookies
Coffee or Milk

LUNCH AT MIDNIGHT
Piping-hot Vegetable Beef Soup
Toasted Bacon and Tomato Sandwiches on Whole Wheat Toast
Applesauce Relish
Cup Custard or Ice Cream
Milk

MID-MORNING BRUNCH
Orange or Grapefruit Juice
2 Eggs Scrambled
Country Sausage Patties
Broiled Tomato Halves
Hot Rolls Butter and Jelly
Canned Peach Halves or Baked Apple
With Cream if desired
Coffee or Milk
